CHURCH BOARD URGE UPON PASTOR TO REMAIN

At a meeting of the Quarterly Official Board of the Union church, held following the evening service on Sunday last, the resignation of Rev. W. T. Young as pastor was considered.

A resolution was passed that the resignation be not accepted and that Mr. Young be asked to reconsider and to accept the call of the congregation to remain another year.

Mr. Young was present at the meeting and briefly outlined his plans for the future and various reasons for looking for a new field of labor. He had been called to other pastorates, and was waiting the action of the stationing committee of the Methodist church before deciding just where to locate.

Plans for a new church of an estimated cost of about $15,000 were submitted by the secretary. Also an offer from the Mission Board of $12,000 towards cost of same. The Board accepted the offer and expressed approval of the plans.

The new church building will have all the facilities for the carrying on of community church work, including gymnasium, etc. The site for the proposed building will be on Victoria Street, immediately east of the Union Bank of Canada building.

A Romance of the Spanish Main CAPTAIN BLOOD by RAFAEL SABATINI

Copyrighted, 1921, by Rafael Sabatini

CAPTAIN BLOOD, a Viagraphe picture with J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.CHAPTER XX.
Hostages

Peter Blood made his way through the house to the wide piazza behind it. In those shades were Colonel Bishop and my Lord Julian Wade.

"I have sent for you, Captain Blood, because of certain news that has reached me," the Deputy Governor said. "I am informed that yesterday evening a frigate left the harbor having on board your associate Wolverstone and a hundred men of the hundred and fifty that were serving under him. His lordship and I shall be glad to have your explanation of how you came to permit that departure."

"Permit?" quoth Blood. "I ordered it."

"S'wounds! Whether has Wolverstone gone?"

"To Tortuga. He's gone with a message to the officers commanding the other four ships of the fleet that is awaiting me there, telling them what's happened and why they are no longer to expect me."

"You hear that, my lord? Deliberately he has let Wolverstone loose upon the seas again—Wolverstone, the worst of all that gang of pirates after himself. It's treason! It's matter for a court-martial!"

"Will you excuse my blather of treason and court-martial? I put on my hat, and sat down, unbidden. 'I have sent Wolverstone to inform Hagthorpe and Christian and Yverville and the rest of my lady to cut piracy or fall out of the Caribbean Sea. That's what I've done.'"

Colonel Bishop belittled his protest, but Lord Julian was more conciliatory.

"It is possible," Lord Julian admitted, "that my Lord Sunderland will be satisfied, provided that the solution is as you promise. Speaking on behalf of my Lord Sunderland, I am content to await the result of your experiment."

"Are you, indeed?" Bishop roared. "Well, then, I am not. I'll tell you. 'Then I'll be wishing you both a very good day. Blood swept off his feathered hat, and made them a leg very elegantly."

"Before you go," said Bishop, "and to save you from any idle remarks, I'll tell you that the Harbor Master and the Commandant have their orders. You don't leave Port Royal, my fine gallows bird. Damme, I mean to provide you with permanent moorings here, in Execution Dock. You do not leave this house. He took a step in the direction of the doorway, and raised his voice. "Ho there . . ." he was beginning to call.

Captain Blood's right hand had re-emerged from the breast of his doublet, bringing with it a pile of silver, and silver mounings richly chased, which he leveled with a foot of the Deputy Governor's head.

"Don't stir from where you are, my lord, or there may be an accident." And my lord, who had been going to Bishop's assistance, stood instantly arrested. The Deputy Governor was awayed on unsteady legs. Peter Blood considered him with a grin that increased his panic.

"I marvel that I don't pistol you without more ado, ye fat blackguard. The good enough to give me your arm, Colonel Bishop. Come, come, man, your arm."

Bishop obeyed. Captain Blood tucked his left arm through the Deputy-Governor's proffered right. Then he thrust his own right hand with his pistol back into the breast of his doublet.

"Though invisible, it's aiming at ye though the less, and I give you my word of honor that I'll shoot ye dead upon the very least provocation, whether that provocation is yours or another's. And now, ye greasy hangman, step off as brisk and lively as ye can, and behave as naturally as ye may, or it's the black stream of Cocytus ye'll be contemplating." Arm in arm they passed through the house and down the garden, where Arabella hovered, awaiting Peter Blood's return. She was convinced now that she had done him a monstrous injustice, therefore she lingered there in the garden, awaiting his return that she might make amends. And when at last he came, it was in company—unusually close and intimate company—with her uncle. In vexation she realized that explanations must be postponed.

He passed, with his companion, from that fragrant garden into the courtyard of the fort. Here the Commandant, who had been instructed to hold himself in readiness with the necessary men against the need to effect the arrest of Captain Blood, was amazed by the curious spectacle of the Deputy-Governor of Jamaica strolling forth arm in arm and apparently on the friendliest terms with the intended prisoner. For as they went, Blood was chatting and laughing briskly.

"Now write unless you prefer the yard arm."

They passed out of the gates unchallenged, and so came to the mole where the cock-hat from the Arabella was waiting. They took their place side by side in the stern sheets, and were pulled away together, always very close and friendly, to the great red ship where Jeremy Pitt so anxiously awaited them.

Colonel Bishop stood in the waist, his great face blanched to the color of clay, his mouth loose, almost afraid to look at the sturdy ruffians who lounged about the shot-rack on the main hatch.

"Now, don't be alarming yourself, Colonel, darling," Blood said. "We'll talk the matter over while we are dining, for I trust ye'll not refuse to honor my table by your company."

He led away the will-less, cowed bull to the great cabin.

"May I ask what . . . what are your intentions?" Bishop quavered.

"Ye've said his lordship made a mistake when he handed me the commission which the Secretary of State did me the honor to design for me. I'm disposed to agree with you; so I'll take to the sea again. I'll be getting back to Tortuga and my buccaners."

"My God!" groaned the Deputy-Governor. "Ye . . . ye never mean that ye'll carry me to Tortuga?"

"No, no. All I want is that ye insure my safe departure from Port Royal. Ye've given certain orders to your Harbor Master, and others to the Commandant of your garrison. I'll be so good as to send for them both aboard here, and inform them in my presence that the Arabella is leaving this afternoon on the King's service and is to pass out unmolested. And so as to make quite sure of their obedience, they shall go a little voyage with us, themselves. Here's what you require. Now write—unless you prefer the yard-arm."

Bishop glared at him; then shrugging heavily, he took up the pen and sat down at the table. In an unsteady hand he wrote that summons to his officers. Blood dispatched it ashore; and then made his unwilling get to table.

"I trust, Colonel, your appetite is as stout as usual."

The Captain felt to with a good appetite. But before he was midway through the meal came Hester to inform him that Lord-Julian Wade had just come aboard, and was asking to see him instantly.

"It was expecting him," said Blood. "Fetch him in."

Blood signaled to the servant, who was standing behind Bishop.

"Set a chair for his lordship, Hayton, send his lordship's boat ashore. Tell them he'll not be returning yet awhile."

"What's that?" cried his lordship. "Bilgewater me! D'ye mean to detain me?"

"Just to make myself and my lady here safe from Colonel Bishop's gallows. There's a note from his hand here, where he summons the Harbor Master and the Commandant of the fort. Once they are aboard, I shall have all the hostages I need for our safety."

"You fool," his lordship said. "Do you dream that I came aboard your pirate ship without taking my measures? I informed the Commandant of exactly how you had compelled Colonel Bishop to accompany you. Judge now whether he or the Harbor Master will obey the summons, or whether you will be allowed to depart as you imagine."

"I'm sorry for that," said Blood. "But not on my own account. It's the Deputy-Governor there I'm sorry for. D'ye know what he's done? Sure, he's let the very fellow he's ordered me to 'My God!' cried Bishop in a sudden increase of panic."

What the World Needs

Cry Is For Security and Stability Says British Foreign Secretary

What Britainers require today is peace, not only at home but abroad, said Austen Chamberlain, the British foreign secretary, at the annual dinner of the London chamber of commerce, at which he was the principal guest. Women attended the banquet for the first time in its history.

"The cry of the world is for security and stability," declared Mr. Chamberlain. "The passionate anxiety of the people being to get away from the horrors of yesterday, to be able to turn face on them resolutely and face with courage all difficulties and try to solve the problems of the future."

Mr. Chamberlain argued that the most profound pacifists were apt to be the most aggressive people.

To Tag Whales

English Expedition to Study Habits of Giant Marine Mammals

An expedition is being organized in England for the purpose, among others, of shooting small drags bearing identity discs into the backs of whales in order that they may later be something more about the marine giants.

Lieut. Stenhouse is undertaking the expedition for the colonial office. He will sail in June for the Falkland Islands, off the South American coast and thence possibly to a whale will be tagged with an identity disc. Among the questions the expedition hopes to answer are: Are whales polygamous? What is their birth rate? What do they eat? How far do they travel? The discs will provide an answer to the last question.

Prince of Wales' Umbrella

Gorgeous Silk One Made Especially For His Use in Africa

Kings of ancient Egypt used the umbrella as an emblem of sovereignty. In West Africa it is still a symbol of royalty, and a gathering of umbrellas is a magnificent affair. The umbrella the Prince of Wales has been using on the Gold Coast was specially made for him in England to the order of the King of Akim, the Hon. Nana Ofori Atta, O.B.E., an enlightened monarch. It is in rich silk, in the Akim colors—blue, red and gold—and on top the state emblem of Eastern Africa—a leopard, stool, crown and sword—is carried out in gold.

Not So Blind

A travelling man, after vainly trying to make clear an argument to a fellow passenger, finally yelled, somewhat angrily: "Why, it's as plain as A. B. C."

"That may be," said the other, "but I'm D. E. F."

Unlike the Chinese who prefer male children, the native African welcomes a girl because her work at home is valuable and she has a cash price, when she comes of marriageable age, in cattle, goods, or sheep.

Whether or not contentment is better than riches, we know that they make a first-rate combination.

Chemist Often Assists In Detecting Forgery

Suspected Documents Often Falsely by Paper and Ink Used

The expert in handwriting is generally given the chief honor in the detection of forgery, but actually the skill of this expert is applicable in a few cases only, and even in these his evidence is unchallengeable outside certain narrow limits, writes R. C. Nicholls in an English paper.

The skill of the chemist, on the other hand, is capable of far wider application, and his evidence is definitely reliable, being the result of reasoning based on scientific facts.

When a suspected document is alleged to be old, the composition of the paper sometimes offers very complete evidence of forgery. For instance, it is obvious that a document is forged when it is written on paper made from wood pulp and yet bears a date long before pulp was used for making paper.

In the Mönziez case documents bearing dates from 1719 to 1772 brought forward in support of a peerage claim, were alleged to have been altered.

The chemist considered proved that the ink used for making the alleged alterations was different in composition from that used for the remainder of the document. And this was not all, for the chemist was also able to show that the alterations had been made with a steel pen. And as steel pens were not invented until 1808, 20 years after the date of the document, forgery was evident.

Bad News For Fat People

Toronto Doctor Says That Dieting Is Useless For Many Cases

That almost one-third of the fat people can never reduce by dieting, was the statement of Dr. H. C. Wales, of Toronto, in an address on "Obesity and the Endocrine," before the forty-fifth annual meeting of the Ontario Medical Association. He explained that their obesity was due to some defect in the endocrine glands. "They have to have special treatment," he said. "We are specially interested in this case, because they are the ones with which we get the best results." The fat that refuses to be "reduced" may be due to some deficiency of the various ductless glands, and Dr. Wales foresees the day when these glands will be excised for use, just as insulin has been obtained from the pancreas.

The Way Out

"I know of no easy way out of this crisis. There is but one way—along the path of clean, unselfish living, of determination and endeavor. That was the spirit that saved us in the great crisis and that spirit alone will enable us to emerge triumphantly from the crisis in which we find ourselves today."—R. A. Hoey, Springfield, Manitoba.

MINARD'S Relieved His Rheumatism

Here is one of many letters testifying to the relief Minard's gives in cases of Rheumatism. "I have been relieved of rheumatism by your liniment. I thought I was never to be free from this malady and I tried many remedies, but Minard's was the only one which gave me relief."

ALPHONSE RICHARD, St. Samuel, P. Q. Minard's is also splendid for stiffness of the joints, sprains, bruises, etc.

Has Had Romantic Career

W. H. Nurey at Eighty is Writing Autobiography

Walter H. Nurey, who has just passed the eightieth milestone of his romantic and checkered career, and who is known from ocean to ocean in Canada, is now completing an autobiography, called "The Videlistries of a Vagabond."

Few men have had so unusual a career as Nurey. He was in India and China before coming to Canada at the age of 20. He farmed near Hamilton, and was a banker in Toronto. He roamed the plains with the blazon, portaged the rapids of the Mackenzie with the early fur traders, was deputy minister of agriculture in the first Manitoba Government, mixed in Mexican and Hawaiian revolutions, written books, and edited newspapers, has been publisher, manufacturer and company promoter, and was a friend of Sir William Van Horne, Lord Strathcona and Lord Dufferin.

Nurey has just recovered from a severe illness. "When I look back over my life, the sights and sounds of a trail breaker are vivid in my memory, the grey-dawn breaking in camps on the northern trails, the crunch of heels in the snow, and the joys of huskies harnessed once more to the sled. I'd like to be young again, just to live my life over."

BEST MEDICINE SHE EVER USED

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Highly Praised by a Nova Scotia Lady

Amosette Brown and esteemed residents of Hemsford, N.S., is Mrs. Amanda Woodworth. Some four years ago she was afflicted with a nervous ailment to lose her husband, and as a result of caring for him during his illness, she became terribly run-down. Mrs. Woodworth says she felt as though her blood had turned to water. The least exertion would leave her tired and breathless. She was often attacked by spells of weakness that left her almost speechless, and frequently suffered from severe headaches. The medicine she used did not help her, and she almost despaired of gaining her health. In this condition she one day read in a magazine a very similar to her own, in which health was restored through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This made her decide to give these pills a trial. After using a few boxes she found the pills were helping her, and she continued their use until her old-time health and vitality were restored. Now Mrs. Woodworth looks after a small farm of fifteen acres, besides doing all her household work, and says she never felt better or more energetic in her life. She is now able to do present ailments thanks to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which she says is the best medicine she ever used, and strongly recommends the pills to all run-down people.

You can get these Pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Why He Chose Canada

Englishman Thought What Sooted Prince Was Good Enough For Him

"What was good enough for the Prince of Wales is good enough for me," was the principle that guided W. W. Hubbell, late of Staffordshire, England, in choosing Canada as the future home for himself and family. "Yes," said Mr. Hubbell, "when a man like the Prince of Wales, who has travelled all over the world, buys a ranch in Alberta, it means that he has found Canada to be a pretty good place to live. I thought, however, I will take up farming in Manitoba."

Mrs. Hubbell also was questioned as to why Canada was selected. "Well," she said, "I had a great uncle out here who lived to be 113 years old. I concluded it must be a healthy country, even though it does get cold at times."

Snakes In Ireland

Small Serpent Is Found in the Vicinity Of Dublin

Notwithstanding the legend that St. Patrick banished all the snakes from Ireland, one has been discovered in Dublin, and is now on exhibition in the national museum. It is a very small specimen, less than two feet long, and of the harmless variety. News of the find caused much comment in the press.

Snakes have occasionally been brought into Ireland from overseas, but they have never known to breed there.

Platinum From Sudbury

Finally revised statistics for 1924 on the production of platinum as reported by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics at Ottawa, show that except for a small amount of five ounces, which was recovered from the British Columbia placers, the total output of 9,186 ounces, was derived from the copper-nickel area of the Sudbury district.

Royal Fair Visited Tutanekham's Tomb

Duke and Duchess of York Took Arduous Journey Across Desert

The Duchess of York, it is said, is thinking of publishing in book form the diary which she has kept of her big game hunting trip to Kenya. Few details of the tour have been made public, but those in the know in Nairobi say that the royal pair had some remarkable escapes from the lions, elephants and buffalo. On their way from Khartoum to Cairo the Duke and Duchess made a detour to the Valley of Kings to see Tutanekham's tomb, travelling part of the way by car and the rest on donkey-back across the desert—a somewhat arduous journey. Several times the royal couple were carried over swamps and rivers pickaback by natives.

British Suffered Most From War

And No Nation Has Made More Sacrifices For Peace

So far as Great Britain is concerned, she has already disarmed. She has drastically cut down her army. Her air force is but the shadow of the great organization which it was at the close of the war, when it was superior in strength and efficiency to that of any other nation. The British navy now takes second place in the world, whether in point of numbers or of new ships. . . . No people in the world have made such sacrifices for peace; perhaps, also, no people in the world, not even our Allies, the French, have suffered so much from war.—London Daily Mail.

Search has been begun by the Azerbaijan Archaeological Society for the treasure of Alexander the Great, which is believed to be buried near the village of Andrievka, in the Shemakha district, about 65 miles from Baku. The archaeologists were led to excavate by the statement of an eighty-year-old resident of Andrievka who declared he is in possession of an ancient map stolen from a Turkish sultan many years ago, showing the exact spot where the treasure is buried.

"Cornwall, Ontario. 'I am now giving your medicine a fair trial and it surely is doing me good and my little son, who is going to keep on taking it, I used to feel so tired in the morning, I didn't want to get up, but that feeling is leaving me now. I sleep better and feel more like working. For seven or eight years I have had headaches, tired feeling, nervousness, back and across my body. I read letters in the newspaper saying that good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done others. My husband says I quit too soon, but I am not going to stop taking the Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine until I am better and have no more pain. Let that be the right way! I have great faith in your medicines. They must be good since they have helped so many others. I am recommending them to my friends and I will gladly answer letters from women asking about them.'—Mrs. B. H. HART, Box 1001, Cornwall, Ontario."

Mrs. Hart wants to know if women are willing to answer letters from sick women asking about the Vegetable Compound.

There is being built secretly in Paris a large hydroplane with which it is hoped to fly, without stopping, the 5,000 miles between Paris and New York. This machine is being constructed on the orders of the French navy, and according to its own plans. It will have a motor of 650 horsepower, and will carry 6,000 litres of gasoline. The first trials will take place in June, and a flight will be attempted during the summer.

French aviation headquarters admit the machine is being made, but refuse to reveal any details beyond those given above.

Death of Veteran Statesman

Moscow Sees No Encouragement In Election Of Von Hindenburg
Upon taking second thought, much of Europe seems to be arriving at the conclusion that there is less reason to be seriously apprehensive because of the election of Von Hindenburg than at first appeared. There is a growing recollection that, after all, the president of the German republic is not the person who decides its policies, and that the cabinet and the Reichstag really run the country. Besides this, the moderate tone of Hindenburg's utterances up to this time and the information that he stands by the Dawes plan has had a rather reassuring effect on many who at first assumed that the outcome of the national election meant the inauguration of an era of reaction and militarism. A tendency to suspend judgment, hope for the best and await the outcome is distinctly on the increase. Moscow alone is unable to see anything but blackness in the prospect. It is quite sure, and justifiably so, that the election of Hindenburg contains no gleam of cheer for the bolsheviks.—Detroit Free Press.

Mrs. L. M. Brown, Walton, N.S., says: "I cannot recommend Baby's Own Tablets too highly. I have found them invaluable for the ailments of little ones." Mrs. Brown's testimony is the same as that of thousands of other mothers who have used the Tablets. To use them once is a sure guarantee that they will always be kept in the home as long as there are babies or young children to be cared for. The Tablets are a laxative—gentle but thorough in action—which never fails to regulate the stomach and bowels; relieve constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers and make the dreaded teething period easy. Canada Leads the Way is Opening Doors of Britain For Import of Air Cattle

Canada, having gained in 1922 an entry into the United Kingdom for her store cattle, has been insistent for the wider opening of the door to include pedigree stock. It can scarcely be imagined that the old-established breeders of Scotland and England will draw an infusion of blood from the folds or the herds of younger Canada; what is more apparent in the insistence of the western dominion is to drive the thin edge of the wedge for a wide open door at all the ports of Britain for the landing of all classes of cattle—store, fat and pedigree. Pressure in that direction is not without its bearing on the cattle future of South Africa or Rhodesia. It would mean that when the day arrives for the export of store cattle from these shores they would, if accompanied by the necessary evidence of clean health, have admittance to the live-cattle markets of Britain.—Bulawayo Chronicle.

HER NERVES SO BAD SHE COULD NOT SLEEP

Mrs. Grace Kitchen, St. George, Ont., writes: "After having a severe attack of pneumonia I was left in a weak and run-down condition. My nerves were so bad I could not sleep nights, and in the day time I had terrible fainting spells, caused by my heart being weak. Finally I got so bad I had to take to my bed for weeks at a time, but one day I read about

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

MAY 24

SAUL BEGIN HIS GREAT CAREER

Golden Text: I determined not to know anything among you, save Jesus Christ, and Him crucified. 1 Cor. 2:2.
Lesson: Acts 9:20-31.
Devotional Reading: Joshua 1:1-9.

The Text Explained and Illumined
11. Saul Proclaims Christ at Damascus, verses 20-22. Upon his return from Arabia (see The Historical Background), Paul joined the circle of disciples at Damascus and proclaimed Jesus to be the Son of God. His bold preaching greatly amazed the Jewish authorities, who knew what his course had been at Jerusalem and what his purpose had been in coming to Damascus. But Paul's power as a preacher for Christ increased, and he confounded the Jews, proving that this is the Christ. "The somewhat unusual Greek word for proving means literally putting together, and so is used for the putting together of arguments."

12. Paul's Escape From His Enemies at Damascus, verses 23-25. The defeated Jews plotted to kill Paul, and this became known to him. Learning that the Jews were keeping watch day and night at the city gates to prevent Paul from leaving the city alive, the Christian disciples lowered him in a basket over the city wall, letting the basket down from the window of a house built either against the wall or top of the wall. In somewhat similar fashion the spies escaped from Jericho, Joshua 2:15.

UNITED CHURCH STRENGTH
IN FOREIGN MISSION FIELD

The United Church of Canada will have about 650 missionaries in the foreign field, according to the latest estimate of the Mission Boards of the three uniting churches. There is at the present time a total of 667 missionaries of foreign service of the three churches, and all but nineteen of these will continue with their parent churches when they enter into the Union. The figures for the three churches are as follows:

Presbyterian	333
Methodist	310
Congregationalists	24
Total for three churches	667
Non-concurring Missionaries	19

In regard to the Presbyterian church, the Presbyterian Foreign Mission Board has ascertained the intention of its missionaries in foreign fields, with the following results:

For entering the United Church, 295; against entering the United Church, 17; against, but wish to continue work, 7; not voted, or wish to defer, 12; probable number to serve under United Church, 314; total number of missionaries, 333.

Of the 112 women missionaries included in above figures, one has voted non-concurring, one not reported, two or three not favorable, but have decided to remain with the United Church.

LONDON JUDGE STIRS
UP HORNET'S NEST

LONDON—Recent assertions by a police court magistrate that women are more inclined than men to tell "white lies" has caused a stir in London among the numerous women's organizations, which have come boldly to the front in strenuous denial of the charges. Women are more loyal than men and their tendency to indulge in deceit to shelter a friend is often misunderstood or misconstrued, is one of the claims set forth by the club members.

H. T. Waddy, magistrate in the Thames police court, in a recent book, "The Police Court and Its Works," who comes out broadly contending that women are more prone to untruths than males, has been attacked on all sides, but has refused to modify any of his charges.

"As a class," says the magistrate, who hears scores of women weekly testifying in court, "I find that women are more malicious, more untruthful and much more clever than men." Justice Roche, two years ago, publicly expressed a similar view. He declared that generally "women do, if not intentionally, tell untruths, or, at least, give way to freaks of imagination."

A government inspector of elementary schools also has stated in court that girl students are often much more apt to make misstatements than boys. "A boy usually hesitates, stammers and gives himself away," he said, "but a girl can lie with all the apparent sincerity of truthfulness." This trait of the child, he added, is often still more marked in the adult.

Notice has been given by several women's societies that special meetings of their respective organizations are to be held soon to refute the charges as set forth by Mr. Waddy in his police court experience. The club members make the point that the dealings with a type of women who frequent the police courts and that his conclusions are altogether wrong so far as women are concerned generally.

NATURAL RESOURCES OF THE PRAIRIE PROVINCES

The progress made by Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta during the past twenty years in the way of natural resources development is outlined in an interesting manner in a recent publication "Natural Resources of the Prairie Provinces" issued under the direction of the Honorable Charles Stewart, minister of the interior. The data includes outstanding facts with regard to forest, mineral, water power, fishery and fur resources, presented in concise form by means of a number of maps and diagrams. The chapter devoted to fur and game resources contains particulars regarding the open and closed seasons, while synopsis of the Dominion lands, grazing, irrigation, water power, mining and timber berth regulations has been included, for the convenience of those interested in such matters.

The publication will be found useful by the intending settler, the investor, prospector, hunter—in fact anyone interested in Western Canada's past development and present opportunities. A copy may be obtained free of charge by adults, upon application to the Natural Resources Intelligence Service of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa.

The first interprovincial school to be established in the west will be opened at Lloydminster, which town is directly on the border line between Alberta and Saskatchewan. The two provinces will jointly contribute to the support of the school.

The Canadian government will have some trouble in preparing legislation on the Home Bank which will satisfy every person and not form a precedent, which will attract every person who loses money in any semi-public investment of any kind whatever. Parliament passed a resolution that the depositors had a moral claim upon the government, but the interpretation of "moral claim" into cold cash that will satisfy the depositors and not give encouragement to all who have lost money, will be a hard enough task.—Calgary Albertan.

People of Bellevue and district will be interested in the following item, which appeared in a recent issue of the Calgary Herald: "Motorists at Banff this season will have a chance to renew their hockey acquaintances with Reg. Mackey, the young defense man of the Calgary Tigers, who has opened a service garage near the C. P.R. depot. Reg. is anxious to meet all the Calgary crowd and at his garage prompt service is promised for every tourist. He has a well equipped place and will be on duty regularly throughout the summer." Mackey was formerly a forward-lineman with the Bellevue team.

AMENDMENT TO THE BUDGET IS EASILY DEFEATED

Ottawa—The Progressive amendment to the budget bill for a downward revision of the tariff, was defeated in the house by 110 to 33, a government majority of 77.

Voting with the government members in the negative were the 11 Conservatives present and 14 Progressives and Independents. The 14 were: Meane, Kennedy, or Glenagary; McDonald, of Temiskaming; Shaw, West Calgary; Fred Johnston, Last Mountain; McConica, Battleford; Pritchard, North Wellington; Reed, of Frontenac; Jaffet, of Lehigh; Stenhouse, of Lennox; Prince Edward Island; Black, of Huron; Neil, of Comox; McKeen, of Cariboo; Humphries, of Kootenay; and Findlay, of South Bruce.

The 33 who voted for the amendment comprised 31 Progressives, including Robert Forke, Progressive leader, Hon. T. A. Crerar, and the two Labor members.

A debate on the main budget motion had been the longest in the history of the Canadian Parliament, so debate on the amendment was one of the shortest on record.

Sir Rider Haggard Dead

Celebrated British Author Was Also Expert Agriculturist.

London.—Sir H. Rider Haggard, the author, died here May 14. Sir Henry Rider Haggard was born in Bradenham, Norfolk, June 22, 1856. He engaged in government service in South Africa, and while a young man became celebrated as a writer of romances and tales of adventure with African backgrounds. From 1882 to 1894, scarcely a year passed without publication of a novel by him. Although he achieved a world reputation as a writer of fiction, it was known to but few that the real life work of Sir Rider was in the field of practical agriculture, in which he gained the highest reputation among experts.

Condemn Reparation Plan

German Officers Declare It Is Incapable of Fulfillment.

Berlin.—The National Federation of German officers condemned the Dawes reparation plan, as incapable of fulfillment, and of "serious damage to German industrial life," beside the political gagging and enslaving of the German people.

The convention criticized the government for not sending to the foreign powers a disclaimer of Germany's war guilt. The federation opposed the security pact proposed by the government, because "it means not only the sacrifice of our nationals in the ceded territories, but voluntary recognition of the shameful Treaty of Versailles."

Suggested Relief For Unemployment

Britain Should Co-operate With Dominion For Railroad Orders

London.—That the British Government should co-operate with the Dominion in the purchase of a regular flow of orders for bridge, trestle and all kinds of heavy engineering equipment for railroads, in order to relieve the grave unemployment existing in England and Scotland, was the proposal made to Premier Stanley Baldwin at a conference with J. T. Brownlie, president of the Annual Meeting Engineering Union, which seems likely to be adopted.

The state is ready to give support to any practical scheme for the relief of this unemployment, said Mr. Baldwin, and the idea that the government should co-operate financially with the dominions, while at the same time giving some form of limited subsidy to trade leaders here in an effort to stimulate employment development, is warmly received.

Saskatchewan Wheat Pool

Big Membership Campaign Is Planned To Commence Shortly

Regina, Sask.—Dwelling upon previous similar efforts, the management of the Saskatchewan wheat pool, immediately the provincial elections are over, will start a wide membership campaign to obtain 2,000,000 additional acres under contract. Organization work for the effort has already been started at the head office in Regina. At the same time it will attempt to obtain the necessary percentage of acreage for the coarsen grain pool, which will operate for the first time this year. The initial move for coarsen grain acreage is the mailing of the contracts to all wheat pool holders.

Anti-Soviet Chief Ends Life

Denied Release From Prison Throes Himself From Cell Window

Moscow.—Notified recently that there was little chance of his liberation, General Boris Savinkoff, notorious anti-Bolshevik leader, has committed suicide by throwing himself from the window of his cell. He was serving a long term on a multitude of charges growing out of his seven years' struggle against the Soviet regime.

His trial, on August 23, 1924, at which there was neither prosecution nor defence, constituted probably the most dramatic case that ever came before the revolutionary war tribunal.

CONTINUE WORK OF ASSISTING ARMY VETERANS

Ottawa.—Some interesting figures on the cost of soldiers' re-establishment have been submitted to the house. Not including the cost of administration, the department last year disbursed $49,656,173 for pensions and re-establishment of veterans of the Great War. The cost of administration was $2,485,646, or about 4.8 per cent of the total disbursements.

In answer to suggestions that the department of soldiers' civil re-establishment should be abolished, Hon. H. S. Beaudet told the house there was no hope that the machinery of the department could soon be dispensed with.

For many years the payment of pensions, Canadian and Imperial, the provision of treatment for the supply of artificial limbs, and all other services handled by the department, must go on. Personally, said Dr. Beaudet, he was not anxious to remain as minister of the department one moment longer than was required by the department.

Senate Vacancies

Government Awaiting Outcome of Proposed Provincial Convention

Ottawa.—The possibility that the proposed, inter-provincial conference on senate reform might result in a reduction in the membership of the senate was suggested in the upper chamber as a reason for the delay in filling the seven vacant seats in the senate.

Answering, Raoul Dandurand, government leader, said that his impression was that the government had not filled the vacancies because it was awaiting the outcome of the proposed provincial convention on the senate.

Senator Loughheed added that perhaps the approaching general election might have something to do with the delay.

Canadian Chief Of Staff Sees Danger Of War

Ottawa.—Addressing a military gathering here, General J. H. MacBrien, Canadian chief of staff, said that the danger of war was not preventable. "The likelihood must be read the daily papers, make an examination of the frontiers in Europe, read the trade rivalry between the United States and Japan, realize the huge importance placed by commercial countries on control over such strategic positions as the Suez Canal and the Straits of Gibraltar, without coming to the conclusion that, sooner or later, there must be grave danger of war," the general said.

Industrial Disputes Act

Amended Act Passes House of Commons

Ottawa.—With three changes, the bill to amend the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act (commonly known as the Lemieux Act) went through all stages in the house. The bill was introduced by the decision of the prime minister to amend the existing Industrial Disputes Investigation Act, in that it was amended on provincial jurisdiction. The purpose of the bill, generally speaking, is to limit the application of the act to matters not within the legislative jurisdiction of any province. There is a further provision to take advantage of the provisions of the Dominion act should it so desire.

Declares Canada Is Interpreter Of Ideals

President of Toronto University Delivers Address In London

London.—Canada's position as the interpreter of ideals between the two great English-speaking nations, Britain and the United States, featured the address of Sir Robert Falconer, president of the University of Toronto, delivered here at a large gathering presided over by the Lord Mayor of London.

Sir Robert declared it was evident Canada now held an extraordinary position of vantage, compared with even half a century ago. Britain regarded Canada with the pride of a mother over her first-born.

Canada, said the speaker, would perform her function of interpreter between the two nations, not of set purpose, but by simply being true to herself and living her own life. Even more important than that was the function which Canada might perform for the United States, in the character of the British commonwealth.

Not in many months, according to the official, have there been so many apprehensions of aliens, or planning to make unlawful entrance into this country. World Supply Is Sufficient Until New Crop Is Harvested

Washington.—Indications of a smaller world wheat carry over on July 1 were published by the department of agriculture. The carry over was estimated at 125,000,000 bushels as compared with 253,000,000 bushels July 1 last year, and 256,000,000 bushels July 1, 1922. This indicates that sufficient wheat is available for the world's needs till the new crop comes upon the market, the department declared.

BRITAIN TAKING MEASURES TO SUPPRESS REDS

London.—The Daily Chronicle says the police are taking strong measures against the Bolsheviks in London. The names of numerous persons to remain in England have been cancelled and the renewal of others refused, the number thus dealt with mounting into the hundreds.

Quantities of literature also have been seized. In consequence of these measures, the paper declares, the Bolshevik bookshop here, where the newspaper Pravda, the Izvestia, and other publications were sold, has been closed, and the official Bolshevik press in England, the Soviet Union Review, has ceased publication.

The staffs of the Russian commercial establishments are being greatly reduced, says the Chronicle, but it is unaware whether this is due to the police campaign or merely to economy.

The present relations between France and Britain are regarded here as about as satisfactory as they could be in a changing world. Prominent diplomats consider that France is undergoing a phase similar to that of 20 years ago.

Second Reading Of Grain Act Postponed

Hon. Arthur Meighen Objected to Mr. Hurry at Important Stage

Ottawa.—The bill amending the Canadian Grain Act, which was scheduled to come before the House of Commons, May 13, for second reading was held over until a later date as the result of objections raised by Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the Opposition. When Hon. T. A. Low, minister of trade and commerce, undertook to introduce the bill for second reading, Mr. Meighen pointed out that the bill, which was a lengthy one, comprised 85 printed pages, had only been made available that morning and not a single member could possibly have read it.

The second reading was the most important stage and it was not in accordance with customary usage to hurry a bill through at that stage. The prime minister said that the government wished to get the bill before the committee on agriculture, but if there was objection to proceeding at once, the bill would be held over, which was agreed.
